

CS2 Unit 3 Grammar and Vocabulary Activities, based on Japanese Scientist 8 (p. 36)

Combine the words and their meaning.

[Pair Work] A: Will you please tell me what X means? B: Yes. The {verb | noun | adjective} X means

words	definitions
frail	to continue trying to achieve something despite difficulties
circumstances	continuing to exist for a long time
persevere	scientific knowledge used in practical ways in industry
stress	the conditions of a person's life
technology	to emphasize an idea
lasting	(especially of an old person) physically weak

A. For sentences 1-7 below, ask a wh-question to find the underlined information. Answer them with SA + FU.

B. For each wh-question you made in A, add Do you know ... to it and answer to the question with No, I don't. I don't know .... See the example below.

Student A: Do you know where Koichi Tanaka was born?

Student B: No, I don't. I don't know where he was born.

1. Koichi Tanaka was born in Toyama, Japan.
2. Koichi Tanaka was born in 1959.
3. Koichi Tanaka won the Nobel Prize in Chemistry in 2002.
4. Koichi Tanaka won the Nobel Prize in Chemistry in 2002.
5. Koichi Tanaka's natural mother died one month after he was born.
6. Koichi Tanaka learned from his father that it is important to work sincerely.
7. Koichi Tanaka learned from his father that it is important to work sincerely.

Combine the two sentences with a relative pronoun.

8. The scientist was born in Toyama, Japan in 1959. He won the Nobel Prize in Chemistry in 2002.
9. Koichi Tanaka was brought up by his uncle and aunt. He has been calling them father and mother.
10. It is important to work sincerely at things. One is committed to them.
11. Expo '70 was the event. It made a lasting impression on Koichi Tanaka while he was in elementary school.
12. The event that made a lasting impression on him was Expo '70. It was held in Osaka in 1970.

Turn the sentences into the passive voice.

13. His uncle and aunt brought up him.
14. His father told him that it is important to persevere untiringly even in the face of little progress.
15. His mother stressed the importance of working quietly towards achieving one's mission in life.
16. The Exposition showed the future of technology.
17. His parents did not encourage him with such words as 'study' and 'succeed.'